

Students for Staff

We are students working together with staff and faculty toward a living wage for all full time Miami employees because we believe that the University has a moral obligation to pay its employees just wages. We are undergrads, graduate students and alumni who believe in living the values of liberal education and critical thinking by putting research and knowledge into action. Through meetings with the administration, research, and direct action we bring the concerns of Miami workers to the attention of the Miami community.

First meeting!
Friday, Aug. 31 @ 5pm in
109 Harrison Hall

livingwagemiami@gmail.com
www.musfs.org

Students for Staff

We are students working together with staff and faculty toward a living wage for all full time Miami employees because we believe that the University has a moral obligation to pay its employees just wages. We are undergrads, graduate students and alumni who believe in living the values of liberal education and critical thinking by putting research and knowledge into action. Through meetings with the administration, research, and direct action we bring the concerns of Miami workers to the attention of the Miami community.

First meeting!
Friday, Aug. 31 @ 5pm in
109 Harrison Hall

livingwagemiami@gmail.com
www.musfs.org

To the Class of 2011

Do you believe that full time employees at a public institution should earn enough to meet local costs of living and support their families without relying on government assistance or a second job?

WE DO.

Unfortunately, by these basic standards many Miami University employees are underpaid. How do we know? Because we've asked them. Some may even live below the federal poverty line, and more than 100 others are potentially eligible for food stamps, with many more likely in need of other forms of government assistance. We invite our administration to work toward implementing a blanket living wage policy as a constructive solution to economic disparities on our campus.

THIS ISN'T ABOUT LUXURY; IT'S ABOUT DECENCY.

As a university, Miami proudly sends its graduates onto successful futures, but as an employer forces many of its workers to live in poverty or only a step away. We refuse to allow our education to be founded upon the exploitation of the very people who bind this university together. They clean our residence halls and classrooms; they prepare our meals; they keep our campus beautiful, and they deserve our respect. We believe that all members of the Miami community have the right to live and work with dignity.

WILL YOU JOIN US TO ADDRESS THIS INJUSTICE?

To the Class of 2011

Do you believe that full time employees at a public institution should earn enough to meet local costs of living and support their families without relying on government assistance or a second job?

WE DO.

Unfortunately, by these basic standards many Miami University employees are underpaid. How do we know? Because we've asked them. Some may even live below the federal poverty line, and more than 100 others are potentially eligible for food stamps, with many more likely in need of other forms of government assistance. We invite our administration to work toward implementing a blanket living wage policy as a constructive solution to economic disparities on our campus.

THIS ISN'T ABOUT LUXURY; IT'S ABOUT DECENCY.

As a university, Miami proudly sends its graduates onto successful futures, but as an employer forces many of its workers to live in poverty or only a step away. We refuse to allow our education to be founded upon the exploitation of the very people who bind this university together. They clean our residence halls and classrooms; they prepare our meals; they keep our campus beautiful, and they deserve our respect. We believe that all members of the Miami community have the right to live and work with dignity.

WILL YOU JOIN US TO ADDRESS THIS INJUSTICE?